DEDICATION

WE, THE CLASS OF 1948, sincerely dedicate this Mountain Breeze to our dearly beloved Alma Mater.

“Dear Greenbank High School

We love you,

And to your colors

We'll e'er be true.”

A Brief Educational History of Greenbank District

The first school in the vicinity of Greenbank was erected in 1780. It was a typical pay school period: the fee was paid by boarding the teacher a certain length of time, according to the number of scholars in the school.

As Greenbank became a larger place than a one-house town, a school was erected below it, what was then known as the Crossroads, and named after the location. The school lasted until 1820, and then a school was built on what is now the property of John R. Gum which was the Carmill Creek. This school served the purpose of educating the pioneer children for a decade.

As churches were built with better regard to the density of the people, the session rooms in school houses, the session room of Liberty Church being one of the most important in Greenbank. The session room schools were usually taught by the pastor, and if the pastor did not teach, teachers would teach a term of three months for a dollar a scholar if there were as many as ten scholars.

The session room schools lasted until 1842, when the Greenbank Academy was erected where the Fellows Lodge Hall now stands in Greenbank. This was the first free school and was first taught by Benjamin Arbogast who had influenced the founding of it. The usual number attending was sixty-five to seventy-five. This school was part of the Academy program of the county which included the erection of three academies: at Greenbank, Huntersville, and Hillsboro. These three buildings were the most modern buildings in the county. Most of the people in Greenbank sent their children to this school. These scholars boarded at Greenbank for there was no method of getting home from the more distant homes.

When a student had finished this school he could attend Institute for a week, and then be given and prepared by the County Superintendent and become qualified for a teaching position. Greenbank District had its own Board of Education at that time, so the teachers went before them for a job. But they had to have as many as two trustees of the three to sign their contract for a job was forthcoming; the salary being about sixty dollars per month.

A few months after the Civil War, the building was remodeled and changed to a two-story building and renamed the "Advanced School." It had a high standard of education.

The old Academy served until 1916; the last session being taught by C. E. Flynn, who was County Superintendent. Its place was taken by the High School.

In the year 1916, John W. Goodsell, President of the Board of Education, with the aid of Moomau, founded the Greenbank High School with the graded school being in the same building. The first levy of money, called for enough money to build the part known a few years ago as the press room, which extended from the front of the building to the present end of the press room. The school and grades were taught in the same part, but as enrollment increased, the building was extended to the beginning of the gymnasium, and a few years later the gym and the rooms above it. This last was completed in 1926.

Quite a dispute was aroused over the location of the building, so it was submitted to a vote. The main candidates for the election were Cass, Dunmore, Durbin and Greenbank, with the last in ahead with a fair majority.

The first term of school opened in the fall of 1918 with a small enrollment. The first principal was W. P. Haught of Bristol, W. Va., with Miss Lucy Meredith, Margaret Hunt, and Lillian M. assistants.

The first graduate of the school in 1919 was Grace Curry, who had attended Marlinton for a year. In the year of 1920, there were five graduates: Virginia Dare Moomau, Helen Beard, Bertie Beard, and Lucille Oliver. In 1921 there were ten graduates, fifteen in 1922, fourteen in 1923, and so on.

N. Phay Taylor, the second principal, was succeeded by T. P. Harwood, who served as principal. Mr. Harwood was replaced in 1931 by John Roach who served four years. In 1935, McMillion became principal, and served until his death in the spring of 1945, when Mack B. Roach, County Superintendent, served until the end of the term. In the fall of 1945, Mr. Virgil G. Roach, W. Va., became principal.

In the fall of 1945, Mr. Vir Gassaway, W. Va., became principal and he is still serving in that position.

Brief Highlights: Basketball started early in the school's history; football not until 1925. The first down for school made by Olen Hiner in a game with White Sulphur. In 1930, separate building was constructed; the next year a bus garage. In 1936 an addition to the main building was built and heat installed in portion of the building, which is now equipped with electric power and artificially lighted. In 1946 a new floor was laid in the gym, and a new heating system installed. Economics began about three years after the founding of the school, and the Future Homers club was organized in 1930-31. In the fall of 1944 a High School Band was formed by Miss Anna

Story of the Play

Here is a play in the best tradition of such famous thrillers as "The Bat," "The Call of the Wild," etc. The action of the entire play takes place in "One Mad Night," and what a crazy night it is! Don Cutter, a playwright, accompanied by Wing, his proverb-quoting Chinese valet, goes to the lonely house in the hills, to complete his latest play in peace and quiet. The house has for years, a series of mysterious murders having given it the reputation of being haunted. Don is appalled and astonishment when he finds the house tenanted by a number of very strange people, inclu

They are lunatics, under the care of a nearby has burned down. They are really quite harmless, but Don doesn't know it and has a riotous time at his discomfiture. Among the inmates is Lucille, a beautiful girl of persecution and intrigue. Like a true Lochinvar, Don is just about to ride to her and her mother put in an appearance with their maid, Depression — one of the characters in years. From this point, everything happens, including talking ghosts, screaming guests and, for a climax, the appearance on the scene of an escaped murderer who succeeds in rescuing the lovely Lucille from a sinister fate only after a series of episodes. By the time the final curtain falls, the audience is weak from laughter and "One Mad Night" is the last word in rapid-fire hilarity.

The Greenbank Chapter of Future Homemakers of America consists of 64 girls. The Club teach the girls the art of homemaking. In keeping with the motto "Toward New Horizons" each tries to attain better home and family life.

Each fall freshmen girls, meeting certain qualifications, join the club by initiation. Being the Club consists of a day of folly and a very serious initiation by candlelight the following day.

The meetings are held the second Tuesday of every month during the fifth period. One of the highlights of the programs was an Easter Parade of styles dating from 1900 to the "new look" of '48.

Every spring our thoughts turn to our Annual Spring Party. Each member invites whom to accompany her. Of course everyone enjoys the occasion thoroughly.

In the spring the chapter is represented by three delegates to the regional and each summer is represented at the State Meeting at Jackson's Mill by three delegates.

The officers elected to serve the club this year are as follows:

The foundation upon which the Future Farmers of America organization is built, includes leadership, character development, sportsmanship, cooperation, service, thrift, scholarship, improved agriculture, organized recreation, citizenship, and patriotism. The Future Farmers of America is a non-profit, non-political farm youth organization of voluntary membership. The organization is 100% American in its ideals and outlooks, and has no outside affiliations or secrecy in connection with any of its activities.

The motto is: "Learning to do
Doing to earn

Earning to live
Living to serve."

The Greenbank Chapter is a 100% Club with all students of vocational agriculture belonging to a nation-wide organization of the Future Farmers of America. One of the social activities of the year is the Annual Father and Son Banquet in the spring.

The Chapter gained recognition in the last year by winning the Greenbrier Valley Federation test in parliamentary procedure.

"Off we go into the wild blue yonder. Plane leaving from Greenbank High School. Sorry this is a non-stop flight. Destination will not be reached until four years of traveling. Passengers on board. Here we are, the freshmen class, starting a journey which will last four whole years.

During the first year, our pilot, Jimmy Wooddell, and co-pilot, Mary D. Hedrick steered our plane through the storms which occurred and helped the crew members to begin a successful journey. The crew thought we would need a morale builder in case our basketball and football players scored a few points below the winning team. Freda Rexrode was unanimously elected to fill the position. Helen Tracy was appointed to keep the records on the first year of our journey.

The first lap of our journey was really like an adventure. We worked hard, but we found that working could be fun on our journey. Our head navigator, Miss Johnson and Miss Post, chartered our plane off course, and went to Hedrick's farm for the day. This was a picnic few Freshmen would forget.

The one catastrophe which occurred during our freshmen year, was the death of our dear friend and principal, Mr. C. A. McMillion. To complete the remaining school term Mr. Mack Brooks, Assistant County Superintendent of Schools, supervised the student body.

During the year Greenbank High School organized a band under the direction of Miss A. M. Johnson. Fifteen members of our crew soon were to be letter wearers in the band.

Our freshmen year was drawing to a close and we were off for a few months vacation.

When the sophomore roll was taken there were still fifty-eight crew members present. We welcomed our new principal, Mr. Virgil B. Harris, whose leadership and understanding would guide our footsteps through the next three years of travel.

We now had forty-seven crewmen on board our plane to begin our junior journey. The year started off with a bang! The class sponsored a Junior party. Under the leadership of Mrs. Davis a Halloween party was planned. In the future when Halloween time rolls around, I'm sure our class will remember a wonderful evening at G. H. S. on "witches night."

Our class was very active during the junior lap of our journey. Helen Tracy represented our school for the first time in the county regional oratorical contests. Jeanne Sheets, an active homemaker, was elected Vice-president of the northern region of the Future Homemakers in America. Several crew members worked on the school paper staff and kept the "Golden Eagle" flying from the press room.

In the spring, our class worked diligently to present the seniors a party which would dwell in their chain of memories.

Several crew members were in the cast of the operetta, "And it Rained," which was presented under the direction of Miss Johnson.

When the presentation of awards was made at graduation, Berlin Galford was chosen by the American Legion to attend State Boy's Camp.

We were a little sad when we completed our junior journey, but the crew was spurred on by the prospect of being "seniors."

Can you imagine, the simple pilgrims who had started on a non-stop flight three years ago were now seniors? Since this was the third year of our journey, each crew

Cheerleader	Freda Rexrode

We now had forty-seven crewmen on board our plane to begin our junior journey. The year started off with a bang! ! ! The class sponsored a Junior party. Under the leadership of Mrs. Davis a Halloween party was planned. In the future when Halloween time rolls around, I'm sure our class will remember a wonderful evening at G. H. S. on "witches night."

Our class was very active during the junior lap of our journey. Helen Tracy

Our class was very active during the junior lap of our journey. Helen Tracy represented our school for the first time in the county regional oratorical contests. Jeanne Sheets, an active homemaker, was elected Vice-president of the northern region of the Future Homemakers in America. Several crew members worked on the school paper staff and kept the "Golden Eagle" flying from the press room.

In the spring, our class worked diligently to present the seniors a party which would dwell in their chain of memories.

Several crew members were in the cast of the operetta, "And it Rained," which was presented under the direction of Miss Johnson.

When the presentation of awards was made at graduation, Berlin Galford was chosen by the American Legion to attend State Boy's Camp.

We were a little sad when we completed our junior journey, but the crew was spurred on by the prospect of being "seniors."

Can you imagine, the simple pilgrims who had started on a non-stop flight three years ago were now seniors? Since this was the last lap of our journey, each crew member tried to acquire more knowledge and grasp something new every day.

We elected our officers early in the year as follows:

Pilot	Jimmy Wooddell
Co-Pilot	Mary D. Hedrick

SENIOR HISTORY

We warmly welcomed our new faculty members Mr. Mosser, Coach, and Miss Parg, Commercial Instructor.

This was really our Football Year! For the first time G. H. S. elected a Football Queen and King with their royal attendants and crowned them at the first Homecoming Celebration. Everyone backed the team in victory as well as defeat. During the Marlinton game, a parade was sponsored by our school. The band members, who led the parade, were proud of their gold and blue capes and hats. Louise Shears and Stanley Robertson were elected queen and King of our football team. The football boys travelled to Lewisburg to win the Greenbrier Valley Championship. The "champs" were honored by a banquet at the end of the season.

A Pageant was presented at Christmas time under the direction of Miss Johnson, Miss Smith, Mrs. Davis, and Mrs. Coyner.

Miss Johnson, supervisor of music, left her position to be married during the holidays. The band continued to play at the basketball games under the supervision of Lorena Shears.

In February, Mr. Roy Anderson from Fairmont College, arrived to fill the vacancy of Miss Johnson. Mr. Anderson has striving, as always, to win at the tournament. The team won our first game but the score was a few points low for G. H. S. during the Lewisburg game. Although we didn't win our boys continued to display their good sportsmanship even in defeat.

There were so many pleasant happenings during our senior year. The day we received our class rings was one of the happiest. It was lots of fun writing on cards to give to our friends and classmates. The senior play, "One Mad Night" was given by the class in April. Two concerts were given by the music department. The parties spiced the atmosphere for the seniors and underclassmates.

At last came Class Night, Baccalaureate Sermon, and Graduation night. The seniors received their diplomas on Graduation night, but we had already received our biggest reward.

And now the senior class wishes to thank all of the parents, teachers, and patrons who have made this journey of knowledge possible. Plane coming in . . . Greenbank High Graduation Station . . . Mission completed by Seniors of '48 . . . prepared for the takeoff into the journey of LIFE.

In February, Mr. Roy Anderson from Fairmont College, arrived to fill the vacancy of Miss Johnson. Mr. Anderson has increased the membership of the band to 30 members and twelve majorettes. He has high hopes for the future bands of G. H. S. We lost a few games during basketball season but our gold and blue team was

LIBRARY

The Library is one of the most important parts of our school, whether it be for classwork or just for pure enjoyment in reading.

This past year we have added to our Library 230 new books, part of these were received from the Upper Pocahontas County Sportsmen's Association's Annual Banquet. $183.35 was given to the High School Library.

During the term, reproductions of six paintings were donated by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. These six reproductions are from a group of 88 pictures by sixteen of which comprises the subject Oil. They record the story of how the oil industry has solved the most serious problems of global war.

The Librarian has begun a program of Library study in each of the English classes. In fulfillment of this plan for the coming year we hope the importance of a richer life will be impressed upon the mind of each and every student of Greenbank High School.

3 A L U T A T O R I A

PARENTS, TEACHERS, CLASSMATES, AND FRIENDS: As representative of the Senior Class it is my happy privilege to welcome you to this our commencement exercise. I am sure that I express the feeling of every member of the class when I say that we are extremely happy to have you with us. We are always happy to have our friends with us. During the past four years one fact has been brought home to us very forcibly. That fact is that you, our parents and neighbors have been the truest, finest, and best friends we have ever had. We feel that we have made this four year journey constantly holding to your supporting hand. For this and all other evidences of friendship and support we now say with all the meaning of which we are capable, "Thank you."

Tonight we have reached a goal for which we have striven during the past four years. When we realize that we have come to the parting of the ways, we wonder with some degree of uncertainty just what all of this is to mean to us in the future. We know that the past has meant friendships that will never be forgotten; happy days that will live in our memories like strings of beautiful beads, all connected together on a golden chain. The future, however, is yet to be proved. We, unfamiliar with the ways of the world, are stepping out into an unknown space. We have only the example of others to guide us in our thinking of the future.

The example of others brings forcibly to our mind one fact. That fact is that we are now standing on the starting line of life, on a basis of equality with the others who will run. We feel that the person who has not a high school education is like a runner in a race who is forced to begin far behind his competitors. In brief, high school graduates are brought up to "scratch" where the start is even and equal for all and the goal equally attainable for each who enters the race.

fore the day of the race. Our task is to be prepared to attempt to prepare us for every difficulty that may be encountered. In whatsoever way we have received our training, just so will we be prepared for the future of life. In whatsoever way we have received the training in the training field, just so will we be prepared when the time comes to enter the race of life.

Aside from success in life, we must be taught us to draw the best out of the world as we go along. It is not to exist merely but to live. To live is the beauty of the word. To live we must have the beauty of life and all those things that come from commercial fields that make a rounded individual.

One thought stands out in our minds. To live well we must believe that we are as human beings and as children of God. We must be convinced that our contribution to the world is required. Our contribution can't be a vivid contribution. It can be a contribution of character. We can confer on mankind some wisdom. We can clinch rivets or sell newspapers. We can live with integrity that people will be better for our having lived. It is our duty to live in such a way that when we are where we will be, in some way we will be stronger and not any wise weaker. It is our duty to live in the world.

In drawing this talk to a close, I want to say that perhaps one of the greatest things that our generation has done for us is to give us the confidence that no matter what the road of the future some day there will have been a meeting any crisis. Thus we are in our homes and classrooms knowing that we have received will tide us over whatever path we choose.

PARENTS, TEACHERS, CLASSMATES, AND FRIENDS: As representative of the Senior Class it is my happy privilege to welcome you to this our commencement exercise. I am sure that I express the feeling of every member of the class when I say that we are extremely happy to have you with us. We are always happy to have our friends with us. During the past four years one fact has been brought home to us very forcibly. That fact is that you, our parents and neighbors have been the truest, finest, and best friends we have ever had. We feel that we have made this four year journey constantly holding to your supporting hand. Tonight we have reached a goal for which we have striven during the past four years. When we realize that we have come to the parting of the ways, we wonder with some degree of uncertainty just what all of this is to mean to us in the future. We know that the past has meant friendships that will never be forgotten; happy days that will live in our memories like strings of beautiful beads, all connected together on a golden chain. The future, however, is yet to be proved. We, unfamiliar with the ways of the world, are stepping out into an unknown space. We have only the example of others to guide us in our thinking of the future.

fore the day of the race. Our trainers have attempted to prepare us for each pitfall and difficulty that may be encountered along the way. In whatsoever way we have failed to absorb our training, just so will we be lacking in the race of life. In whatsoever way we have excelled in the training field, just so will we be well prepared when the time comes to meet our difficulties.

Aside from success in life our training has taught us to draw the best of everything from the world as we go along. It has taught us not to exist merely but to live in the fullest sense of the word. To live we must be aware of the beauty of life and all those other things aside from commercial fields that go to make us the rounded individual.

One thought stands out in our minds. To live well we must believe that we have worth as human beings and as children of God. Also we must be convinced that some useful contribution to the world is required of us. If the contribution can't be a vivid creative thought it can be a contribution of character; if we can't confer on mankind some world changing deed, we can clinch rivets or sell newspapers with such integrity that people will be in some way the better for our having lived. It is each person's duty to live in such a way that somebody, somewhere will be, in some way, the better and stronger and not any wise the worst of our being in the world.

In drawing this talk to a close let me state that perhaps one of the greatest things our education has done for us is to give us confidence: confidence that no matter what we meet along the road of the future somewhere along in the way there will be something that we are prepared for.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Driver Education was added to the Greenbank High School schedule at the beginning of the school year. The necessity for this course in the high school curriculum can be seen when we consider the high number of accidents and deaths on our highways.

Safety Education was in regular classroom work. Each student was required to have at least "under the wheel" driving experience in order to be eligible for the examination that is given by the Department of Public Safety.

PARENTS, TEACHERS, MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION, UNDER-CLASSMEN, AND PATRONS OF GREENBANK HIGH SCHOOL: With enduring gratitude the class of 1948 bids "farewell" to you. In the inevitable moments of saying "goodbye," Our high school days have drawn to a close. The good times and the bad, the laughs, and, occasionally, the tears have been shared together. Now we must each choose a path in life, a path of preparation. We have received our earlier preparation in this high school and we must not for a moment forget those who have made it possible.

It is to our parents that we owe deep and sincere "thanks." During these preparatory years our responsibilities have fallen upon their shoulders. Whatever honors we share tonight, we pass on to them.

To the faculty we leave our appreciation for the way that you have helped us in our quest for knowledge.

We owe to our Superintendent, the School Board, and the Parent-Teachers Association, the chance to learn in a better, a modern, and more progressive way.

To the people of our communities we extend our congratulations. You have every right to be proud of Greenbank High School, which will continue to raise the standard of education among our people.

To the Junior Class, we leave the magic word "Senior." We know that you will retain the standards, ideals, and traditions of our school.

We must not overlook our heritage, America, where we have the opportunity to learn and live unrestrained. We are not bound to the ideals of any one man. During the past four years we have received our education as a gift. It was given to us with the plea that we use it for our development. In a few moments the end of these four years will have arrived. We have before us every opportunity that youth in the land of America. Our minds, free hands, are free to do our will. Truly we prize the gift of freedom for which we fought and died. We must use it to peopled world with less greed, hate, and despair. This task rests upon the shoulders of our unafraid youth. We, as the youth of America, shall repay a part of our debt to our country with our citizenship. We shall accept the talent which must be developed into a better world for mankind. In this way we may pass our heritage to our underclassmen. By the fruits of this preparation we may develop a better America. May we have the courage to do our job well and, when we are the elders of our land, look upon the world with a sense of job well done.

The gentle mists of rosy dawn
Have cleared, and far away,
Beyond the blue horizon's rim,
There peeps the new-born day.

'Tis life: and on the threshold
The class of '48
Impatient now to venture forth
And meet the test of fate.

With eager glance and joyous mien
With spirit brave and bold,
They go: no clutching fear have
Of what the years may hold.

Through all life's harsh vicissitudes
And all its trials and wee,
With courage firm and undismayed
And heads held high they'll go.

Fond memories of bygone days,
Loved years of long ago,
Will bring them solace till the end
And keep their hearts aglow.

Farewell, dear class of '48
Godspeed! Keep burning bright
The warming fires of memory
And Friendship's steadfast light.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The Music Department under the direction of Mr. Roy Anderson, who succeeded Mrs. Anna M. Sweet Wichurch in December of this year, has followed a very active program, consisting of:

1. Active participation at all athletic events.
2. Participation in numerous community sponsored programs.
3. The annual Christmas program, "Christmas in Many Lands," presented for the student body in December.
4. The Annual Spring Concert at Greenbank High School on April 5th and 6th.

The department has enlarged this year to include a Chorus class of high school students.

The Band now wears its Gold and Blue uniforms of capes and caps, includes 12 Majorettes and a Drum Major in its group. Our Director has extensive plans for the future of this organization.

Foreword

The journalism class proudly presents the 1961 MOUNTAIN as a pictorial record of our senior year at Green Bank High School.
It serves as a lasting reminder of the events it records and enjoyment throughout the years.

FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

It is impossible to record all achievements of an individual or a group of individuals in a book of this type. The staff and student members of the MOUNTAIN BREEZE have recorded merely the highlights of the things that have happened during the present year. They have done an excellent job, but this has been done through the expenditure of a great amount of time and effort. It is a challenge to the lower classmen and future

Last Will And Testament

We, the 1961 Class of Green Bank High School, County of Pocahontas, State of West Virginia, being of sound mind and memory, do hereby make, publish, and declare this to our last will and testament, hereby revoking any will or wills heretofore made by us.

I, Bonnie Arbogast, will my laughing ability to Maxine Mick.

I, Kaye Beard, will my "flapper" manner to Donna McCutcheon, not that she needs it.

I, Agnes Beverage, will my typing ability to anyone that needs it.

I, Joann Brock, Will my love for shorthand to anyone who likes to scribble.

I, Ruth Ann Burner, will my meanness to Earl Vance and hope that he can get by with

I, James Carpenter, will my goatee to Mr. Harris and my basketball ability to the tire squad next year.

I, Danieth Coleman, will my interest in "you know who" to Deanna Lusk. Nope, I don't think I will!!

I, Carol Collins, will my ability to get by with meanness to Lois Varner in hopes she can.

I, Franklin Collins, will my ability to get out of trouble in studyhall to anyone who needs it.

I, Karen Collins, will my studying ability to my sister, Millie.

I, Rebecca Jean Collins, will my love for Franks to Susie Hoover.

I, Jarrett Crowley, will my ability to get into all-girl classes to Willard Shears.

I, Marilyn Davis, will my chemistry book to anyone that will make better use than I did.

I, Terry DeHaven, will my hunting and fishing tales to Arthur Mullenax.

I, Amanda Doyle, will my love for bus drivers to Carol Gardner.

I, Carole Elza, will my ability to stop growing in time to Deanna Lusk.
